

Long Term Care A Woman's Issue

*Presenters: Natalie Karp & Rona Loshak
Thursday, March 25 10:00 am*

L.T.C. Planning is especially important for women: Women are often impacted as providers and recipients because: Women live longer than men; are more likely caregivers; and are more concerned that their children will be burdened with the emotional and financial responsibility of caring for them. Financial experts agree that without L.T.C. planning, your financial plan is incomplete. Planning today can protect your savings from depletion and gives you more choice in the quality of care you receive, while easing the burden on you and your family. Other valuable concepts include: protecting assets in second marriages (under current law a prenuptial agreement does not protect as originally intended), protecting spousal discounts in divorce, eligibility, health conditions, unmarried couples living together, NY State Partnership Plans, State Credits and Federal Deductions. Hear about practical planning for women with spouses or partners - or women living alone.

BRYANT LIBRARY ELEVATOR OUT OF SERVICE

Please be advised that the Library's elevator is currently out of service. The Library has employed the services of various elevator technicians to remedy this issue as quickly as possible. During this time, programs will continue to be scheduled on the second floor of the Library which is accessible to all patrons via the entrance located on East Broadway. Patrons that are unable to utilize the stairs to access the main floor restroom facilities must exit via the second floor entrance and re-enter the main floor via the front entrance. The Library staff will be happy to assist in any way possible to direct patrons accordingly. We apologize for any inconvenience this may present to our patrons.
